1 X 105'
human interest/arts
documentary

Burning Man: Beyond Black Rock takes an unprecedented journey behind the scenes of a worldwide cultural phenomenon.

In 20 years, the Burning Man Festival in Black Rock, Nevada has evolved from a fringe counter-culture into a global celebration of artistic expression and social revolution.

For the first time, this film goes behind the scenes to explore the philosophy that fuels it and the tireless efforts that drive it, documenting the journey of the Burning Man organizers as they conceive, plan and create a city unlike any in the world.

Granted unprecedented access to the inner workings of the Burning Man organization, the filmmakers spent 18 months with the founders, organizers, artists and participants to document the full complexity and diversity of the Burning Man community.

But true to its title, the film goes beyond the city they raise in the desert, revealing the Burning Man's plans to bring its unique culture to the rest of the world.

Beyond Black Rock tells, for the first time ever, the real story of Burning Man, from the inside out.
